

Today,
environmental education in Japan is entering its third phase. A renewed and expanded commitment by the Japanese Society of Environmental Education towards collaborative research, education, and resource exchange through increased international cooperation is expected.

Our goal is to theoretically systematize environmental education. To realize this goal, we seek to further clarify our area of focus and teaching materials, increase participation and promote hands-on activities that will bring daily tangible results in all different forms.
